Dear Ms. Hesse: I honestly believe that M/Soft has gone through enough trying to prove that they are not pirates dishonest or trying to break up other companies. They have been unable to compete and by now should recognize that declaring a truce would be the best way out. The ENRON debacle is one that should be pushed to the front. Many politicians and other government officials are involved and undoubtedly are going to be excused for their actions. The average American is disgusted with what is going on in the country today. Stop the Microsoft debacle and get to more important things.

Respectfully C. R. Rizzuto
